

A table of the 10 top-ranking causes of death in the United States (1993-1995), tabulated by age group, can be found at WISQARS Leading Causes of Death Reports - Choose 1999 data or 1998 and earlier data. After going to that site, clicking on a specific cause of death will give you further information. Additional mortality and cause of death information may be found on the web site of the National Center for Health Statistics at <http://www.cdc.gov/nchs/>. The National Safety Council provides interesting statistics related to injuries and the odds of dying from different types of injuries.